

ISRHML
The International Society
for Research in Human
Milk and Lactation

Do you do Research in Human Milk and Lactation?

If so, you should be a member the
International Society for Research in Human Milk and Lactation

What is ISRHML?

A vibrant and growing non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of excellence in research and the dissemination of research findings in the field of human milk and lactation from cell biology to public policy.

Who can be a Member?

Members are affiliated with universities, medical centers, governmental agencies, NGOs and industry. ISRHML has four membership categories.

1. Full – Active researchers
2. Associate – Allied professionals
3. Trainee – Researchers in training
4. Emeritus – Retired researchers

 Membership fees will be determined by the World Bank economic classification of your country of residence*

What are Advantages of Membership?

1. An active trainee group and grants and activities to support professional development.
2. Established liaisons with government agencies, public health authorities, industry, and other organizations interested in human lactation.
3. Reduced conference registration fees

